How did it go on the night?

Paparoa Wearable Arts Gala really 'WOWed' the crowds this year. The two shows played to capacity audiences on Saturday 24 August in Paparoa Hall. At a Pre-Show Reception in the Marquee, local group, The Eccentric Ukes and magician Magic Mike entertained. The choreographed first half had the audience spellbound, followed by each of the 46 creations parading the catwalk.

The superlatives have been flowing since. Laura Burns from Creative Northland was one of the three judges - "It was a privilege to see your small rural community emboldened by creativity - well done WAG13". Another judge, Edele MacDonald from Northtec said - "an amazing community event". Philippa Ross from Waipu couldn't get to the show but emailed "my friend was blown away by the talent in the area and how professionally run the show was".

A highlight this year was the invitation to sponsors to present their prizes on stage to the winners. A number of them commented that it was a pleasure to be part of the show. WAG13 chairman, Graham Taylor, noted how the sponsors had really joined in the spirit of WAG and urged the community to return that support.

The Supreme Winners, Mia Tong and Kohl Tyler-Dunshea are thrilled to be heading off to WOW in Wellington. PP

A Sponsor's Perspective

Speedy Signs from Whangarei, Gold Sponsors of the Supreme Award for WAG13, provided the following comments:

"There's nothing a sponsor likes more than to be involved in an event and to receive recognition. So we were delighted to be involved with WAG 13 and to meet and mingle, on Sat 24th, with other sponsors who felt the same way.

What a fantastic evening! To see close up the creativity, the imagination, the attention to detail, the quality of the entries was stunning. The music and choreography was brilliant, as were the young children that entertained us.

Congratulations to all entrants and category winners, you deserve to feel proud of your efforts. And to the organizers who pulled together a fabulous community event 'well done' and thank you for looking after the sponsors."

Generous Art Sponsorship for The Paparoa Show

Gerard Sullivan from Zephyr Oysters is sponsoring a $250 prize for "A Local Seascape", in any art medium, in the February 2014 Paparoa Show.

Put on your artistic 'hat' and create a great entry, for our next show Feb 1st. A very generous sponsorship.

Local Homeschooler Commended

Honour Smith of Pahi wants to be a writer or horse trainer when she grows up; or maybe an illustrator of childrens' books; save some animals from being killed; be a missionary in Africa; adopt some children from an overseas orphanage; or 100 other things, including using her art abilities.

Not short of creative ideas, this home-schooled 14 year old and her sisters have compiled their own private newspaper called the 'Graceland Herald' which is quirky and full of interesting articles and advertisements. She is currently working on her first novel which is about a girl who goes on an adventure to try and find her mum.

Last month Honour entered a story in the Junior division of the Franklin Writers' Group Annual Short story competition.

In the story, called 'Joanna', a girl has been given an old aeroplane for her 13th birthday.

It seems like a simple kind of story and yet there are two different time periods involved which make it quite complex.

Joanna asks if it is all a dream, and the reader has to wonder as well.

Judge and author Tina Shaw said "I was very impressed with the entries for the Junior section of this competition. Each of the stories showed sophistication in both concepts and writing style, so it was quite difficult to choose a winning entry".

Honour's story didn't win but was 'Highly Commended', along with one other entry.

Honour, of course, was thrilled and encouraged by her success and we wish her all the best for her future. PP

Planting ... for the bees

Simple ways to help offset the alarming decline in honeybee populations: the native bee needs access to pollen and nectar sources all year. The critical time is from late autumn through to late spring when the hive is needing supplies to get through winter and then to build up numbers after low winter levels.

Native plants flowering over this period include lacebark, five finger, kowhai, & cabbage trees; ngaio, brooms, coprosma; kanuka, manuka; wineberry, karaka & rewarewa; also the pittosporums kohuhu, lemonwood, and karo. Hebes & flax are also good.

Exotics and herbs include phacelia, goldenrod, borage, rosemary, lavender & sage.

Most importantly, DO NOT use insecticides in your garden or farm and encourage friends and family to act similarly. The much-used imidacloprid-containing-sprays (eg: Safer, Bayer Advanced, Ortho) are all lethal to bees in particular and to other beneficial insects. This chemical breaks down slowly and maintains toxicity in foliage and soil, even moving in water to waterways. Vital micro-organisms are killed off and eventually soil is adversely affected.

The North Kaipara Agricultural Association's Paparoa Show NEEDS YOU!

Can you help?

Do you have any time to spare?

Put your special talents to work, all kinds of skills are required.

A small but dedicated committee spend all year between events, working to bring the next Paparoa Show to the community. The next show is in February 2014.

Voting in your Local Government Elections

Local government elections this year will not include District Council elections. But we will still have both Regional Council and District Health Board elections, and it is important that we vote in order to ensure we have the right people representing us on these Northland-wide organisations.

Libby Jones from Paparoa is standing again for the Northland District Health Board and encourages all voters to complete and return their voting papers by 12 October (papers will be posted out from 20 September).

OUT & ABOUT around the District

Just a reminder from the minders of the Lions Paparoa Walkway to keep all dogs out of the NO DOGS zone. With wildlife returning to the area this has now become more important than ever. In the last few weeks the 'No Dogs' stickers have been removed from the signs at the Pahi Road end of the walk.

Congratulations to Chelsea Mae Smith (daughter of Paul and Marietta of Pahi Road) recently engaged to Nicholas Cullen (son of Greg and Noeline, Maungaturoto).

Pahi Road residents had a great evening out recently when a Pot Luck dinner was held at Pahi Hall. New chairs and tables, purchased with a grant from New Zealand Community Trust were used for the first time. The Hall committee is now fundraising to refurbish the Hall kitchen.

Bill & Christine Stewart have suddenly increased their family number with their three daughters each producing a child this year, after doing the same in 2011. During June, Maree gave birth to Summer Jean; in July Louise produced a son, Lachlan; and Denise is expecting her second child on 29 August.

Needless to say, Bill & Christine are very, very proud grandparents, congratulations!

The Wearable Arts Gala committee can pat itself on the back after the fabulous success of the recent WAG event. The Paparoa Hall was filled to capacity for both the matinée and evening shows. Ticket holders were so anxious to secure a good vantage point for the evening show that the doors had to be opened early due to the pressure of patrons clamouring to be allowed in. Well done all involved! PP

We apologise for the following errors in the August Press:

Apologies to :

- Chris Williams, whose name was reported, in error, as Chris Matthews, in our 'No fishy stories' piece on page 10 of the August PP.
- To Thane & Marlene Colquhoun, we apologise for the missing final sentence of our 'Through the Looking Glass' piece on page 4 of the August edition.

The final paragraph should have read:

"The total immersion oyster does not look like a normal farmed oyster. The shell is very pale and so is the oyster meat. In contrast, the frill looks very black against the flesh. Marlene is very particular about presentation and each tube of oysters is carefully packed to show off the divinely tasty contents." PP

Paparoa School : Calves for Pet Day

Paparoa Primary School are now the proud owners of five Ayrshire calves thanks to Mike & Nicola Peele. The Peele family kindly donated the calves to the school so children can help to rear and use them for the school's Annual Pet & Show day, on Friday 18 Oct.

The Peele Family unloading the calves

Five lucky children have been selected to help rear these calves. They will be helped to halter, pet, groom and lead the calves. Students are eager to pat and touch the new arrivals, getting their fingers sucked when feeding time happens at lunchtime.

The children are all very interested. Some have had little opportunity before now to be involved in this New Zealand tradition. The calves are being kept in the school's paddock next to the playing field. This means all the children get to come and take part as often as they wish.

Principal Kim Tavinor said, "I'm really excited so many children are keen to help and it is lovely to give five children the opportunity when otherwise this might have been out of their reach. We would like to say a huge 'thank you' to the Peele family and to Mike Plunkett and Roger Martin for giving up their time and resources to build the school's new fences to keep our calves in."

Pets in the Valley

It's that time of the year again where pet lambs are running around the lawn and calves are being dragged around in an attempt to make them obedient by calf club day. The mission is to keep them alive and healthy until the big day.

I drove all the way to Waipu one Sunday night to see a sick pet calf. It died before I got there and their pet day was on the Monday, very sad.

Lambs are even better at being healthy one moment and dying the next. Most issues arise from gut disorders.

A few tips for increasing survival rates: Don't overfeed, more is not better. No sudden changes of feed, find out what the lamb has been given when you get it and try to give it the same, half and half if you are going to be using a different milk source. Be very careful with mixing rates if you are using milk powder, too dilute and the milk won't clot in their abomasum, too concentrated and the lamb will be dehydrated.

Use plain yoghurt in the milk especially when they are young. A tablespoon in each feed is enough, don't be in a hurry to make their teat hole larger it may make feeding quicker but the more sucking an animal does the better. Use 5-in-1 vaccine from a young age or even better 10 in 1 vaccine and, last but not least, make sure your lamb is not nibbling on any poisonous or even not obviously poisonous plants when wandering around the garden. Have a great time with your animals.

Take care, Janine

KAIPARA LIFE : The great Snapper debate

A proposal to reduce recreational snapper bag limits in Area 1 has caused much consternation among Kaipara's recreational fishers. Many fear that a big cut in the East Coast bag limits will simply result in a transfer of recreational fishing effort from the Whangarei area into the Kaipara fishery.

While I am not convinced that the actual reduction will be as harsh as that currently being suggested (a bag limit of 3 snapper), I do think that local fishers have good reason to worry.

After all if you are going out for a day's fishing it would make sense to fish where you can get the best return for your time and money. So therefore it is very likely that the Kaipara snapper fishery will pay the price for a big reduction in East Coast bag limits.

There are other problems with this proposed solution as well:

Firstly, one of the major flaws is the size of the fishery management areas. Area 1 is huge and should not be managed on a 'one size fits all' basis. Placing the threat posed by Auckland, with its burgeoning population, in the same category as that in areas such as Whangarei makes no sense to me. On top of this there could well be large stretches of the East Coast where very little recreational fishing takes place at all.

A second concern is the reliability of the information on the size of the recreational catch. Working out just how much fish is actually out there and who is getting how much is not an exact science. Random boat ramp checks, telephone and aerial surveys can only ever paint part of the picture. So do we really know how big the problem is?

Thirdly, the commercial fishery does have a tarnished reputation with regard to high grading and illegal dumping. Given the quantities of fish discarded in this way, many recreational fishers feel they are being punished for problems not of their making.

Fourthly, I applaud the trawler man who has worked out a better way to configure his net so that smaller fish could escape. I only wish that MPI (the Ministry for Primary Industries) would take steps to promote such innovation, instead of absolving themselves of any responsibility by saying they don't employ 'input controls'.

Finally I know that cost is a big factor these days for recreational fishers - buying, maintaining and running a boat not to mention the price of fishing gear - has already put this iconic pastime beyond the reach of a lot of Kiwis.

At the end of the day we all want the same thing - a healthy and sustainable fishery - but I can't see that this proposal will get us any closer to that.

Paparoa Playcentre

Our Playcentre has had a good tidy up this year from the grounds to the paperwork. Early in the year we needed to be re-licensed: initially, we had a huge list to get through but it was divided up between Playcentre parents and everything was ticked off in no time. We were re-licensed with no problem and the centre is now nicely spruced up.

We had our Education Review Office (ERO) visit this year, which reports on the quality of education provided. Paparoa Playcentre received a glowing report. So a big thank you goes to our awesome parents who have taken time from their own busy lives to make the centre a fun, safe and tidy place for our children to come to play and learn.

— ones which are about a learning activity shared by the children. These can be as simple as sharing but it all matters to us.

The Playcentre is run by parents with guidance from The Playcentre Assn.

We are always happy to see new parents and children. We're open every Tuesday and Friday 9.15-12.15, there is no need to book, just turn up on the day. And your first three visits are free.

Primary School PTA Possum Purge

The school PTA hopes for 1000 possums to be plucked (last year's tally was 850). An extra night's hunting sees the Purge start on Thurs 5th, running thru' 'til 11am Sun 8th. Bring your possums to the Paparoa Showgrounds for the count, where willing pluckers will remove the fur for school fundraising.

The possum hunt helps with possum control in the area; teaches students about possums as a pest; and raises funds from the sale of the fur. Sponsors, including Panasonic, Stirling Sports, Ridgeline Clothing, 100% Fergus Appliances, and many local businesses have provided great sponsorship so hunters will vie for over $5000 worth of prizes - for the most possums, the most plucked fur, best team name, as well as lots of spot team prizes for adults & kids, including kids' heaviest possum. The winning team also receives the keenly contested Possum Trophy. All pre-registrations go into draw for a Mangonui Holiday Weekend. Registration: $10 for adults, kids with adults are free. Prizegiving is on Sun 8th from 11am at Paparoa School, with Sausage Sizzle and lots of Fun Family stuff. Registration forms are available now from Paparoa Primary School, Paparoa Hotel, 100% Fergus Appliances Maungaturoto, Stirling Sports Whangarei, Paparoa school website www.paparoa.school.nz, or email hames.jones@xtra.co.nz

art ... Size matters

Just after I left Art School I met a fellow student in the street in Wellington. She had majored in printmaking, and was carrying a neat portfolio case containing her year's work as she visited galleries to promote it. I thought of the huge, heavy sculptures I had made in stone, plaster and steel and envied her. I made a vow never again to make art that I couldn't easily carry around. But I still do.

Wearable art is defined by the human body, but is by no means confined by its size. It is a challenge to stretch the boundaries of what can be attached to a body and yet be carried around. To make maximum impact on the stage we reach out and up, pushing the limits of size and weight. And now I'm making pieces that I can barely fit into the car.

But there is life after the wearable arts gala. I'm planning new work, using the techniques I have developed. I can see sculptural pieces, no longer dictated by wearability. I see them stretch further out, and further up! My favourite technique is to build my sculptures, adding individual components, one at a time. I stand back and consider the form before deciding what to add next. And the pieces grow.

I also have a block of Oamaru stone waiting to be carved. It's too cold to work outside, I need it in the studio. If only I could move it by myself.

Grateful thanks to local sponsors:

WAG13 was a real community effort. Paparoa Lions pitched in to erect the marquee for the pre-Show Reception and the changing rooms for contestants. The Paparoa Sports & Recreation Assn designed, supplied and served nibbles. And of course local businesses supported the show.

Sue Matthews, & Laura Burns

Paparoa Store donated the Lucky Ticket prizes, Skelton's and L'art de Beauty the People's Choice runner up prize (Matinee) and Village Café the People's Choice (Gala) prize. And the Kauri Museum provided gifts for the judges. These contributions are very gratefully received by the organisers.
